THE EVERYTHING CRISIS

"It's interesting that we talk about climate change as if it's just one of the problems that our society is facing. We're not viewing it as something that all these other problems are feeding in to."

These quotes are based on a series of interviews by Joseph Henderson in "The Everything Crisis" (Film). They are arranged alongside photographs of our world, to remind what it means to be human, how awesome the world we've been given is, and why we must fight for it.

This is The Everything Crisis.
